The Coppertones	Geoff Hughes	geoff@mathousemedia.com.au	0403621111	www.thecoppertones.com.au IG: https://www.instagram.com/thecoppertones	Mix of Both	Blues, Rock	Surf Rock	2	The Coppertones are Rob Geaney and Geoff Hughes, both local Port Macquarie musicians with a long and distinguished history. The Coppertones perform a blend of instrumental and vocal compositions which strongly reflect their individual and collective music influences. The Coppertones pay homage to surf guitar music both past and present, with a setlist that swings from The Shadows to Cruel Sea, via Pink Floyd and Midnight Oil. Rob Geaney has composed and played music for fifty years, in duos, vocal trios and larger music ensembles. As a singer songwriter, and as a primary and secondary music teacher, he has passionately shared his love of music to literally thousands of people for the last forty years on the far north and the mid north coasts of NSW. Rob views his music as an art form constantly evolving and expanding on his own musical influences which range from the British sounds of the 60's with bands like The Shadows, The Beatles, Pink Floyd etc to the LA and California sounds of Crosby Stills Nash and Young and Steely Dan. Rob has played in the Port Macquarie area since 2006 and in that time enjoyed a residency at Zebu Bar and Grill, playing with Matt Brooker for 5 years in the Latin trio of Los Tres Amigos. As well, he initiated the highly successful RADIO ZEBU in 2012, an open mic night which ran every week for 4 years. He relished that role of mentoring and showcasing other musicians to the local community. Geoff Hughes has played rock and blues guitar since 1976, forging his sound in the competitive Sydney pub rock scene of the 1980s with Sydney punk band The Victims, recording and touring act X-It and award winning Boss Cocky in the 1980s. Geoff moved to Wauchope in the early 90s, where he continued his rock and blues journey with The Levitators, Madhouse, The Martin Brothers (the original duo), Magazine, The Side Project and Everything But Anchovies. The Coppertones showcase Geoff's dazzling lead guitar style and command of tone and sound. The perfect foil for Rob's vocals and rhythm guitar.

Space Junk Farmers	Mark Dalton	mdalton73@hotmail.com.au	0439561996	Space Junk Farmers Facebook	Originals	Blues, Rock	PA	4	Have been playing together for many years in different formats have a professional fun act for all to enjoy. Active touring since 2008 in music industry back in 2018. Beginning to write and perform new songs all these venues soon created quite a buzz in Port Macquarie and beyond. After years of anticipation, the highly anticipated debut EP is finally here, and fans and critics alike couldn't be more excited about 'Mongrel's Unleashed' recorded locally at Shoehorse Studio. B' Dawg (Aka Meila) has a passion for unique instruments like Cigar Box Guitars, Banjo and Resonator Guitar. She uses a combination of finger picking and slide methods with a little distortion to create their big, dirty, swampy blues sound! Mongrel keeps the engine revving with big bold Bass whilst B' Dawg plays, sings and stomps! Mongrel understands the principles of good blues basslines and provides some solid rhythms, he is as dependable as the ligaments at Bonni's! (Benni Dawg is primarily a built around husband and wife team with the addition of some powerful support musicians referred to as the Strays who join in to suit the different shows! The Strays: E'D Dawg: When the duo need extra grit, they bring in 'O'D Dawg' (Paul) who switches between acoustic rhythm guitar & electric guitar to enhance the groups sound. Sometimes he plays haunting fills and other times his inner rock god surfaces, and he releases some killer riffs using effects such as overdrive, distortion, fuzz and boost to help sculpt the groups tone. Brutus Dawg and K Dawg: When they want some percussive mayhem 'Brutus Dawg and K Dawg are the groups rhythm masters, they shake, rattle, and hit stuff unleashing a bit of creative percussive mayhem by utilising cajon to provide the back beats to make each performance memorable. Sax Dawg: 'Sax helps out with vocal backing and rhythm guitar to make sure everyone is having a howlin' good time. He has the most amazing voice and is the biggest larkin!' his enthusiasm is contagious! Six Dawg: When the group need the full sound of a band for their bigger stage shows, then it is Six Dawg who brings the boom! Six creates the primary rhythmic function, and he knows how to whack out a great drum beat to get the crowd stomping like crazy! They're a bit of mountain music, bluesy, rootsy, swampy and tad dark country... whatever the case, together, these guys are deadset, fair drinkin', fun story tellers and it's all about having a rip snorting good time!

Heywood Moore Hoedown Band	Brian Heywood	info@heywood-moore.com	0434279707	Heywood Moore Hoedownband Website: https://www.heywoodmoore.com/	Mix of Both	Country, Rock	We are fully self-contained and just need a safe performance area and power. We also happy with 'plug and play' performance opportunities.	4 / 5	Think both music meets rockin' country... The award winning all country sound of the Heywood Moore Hoedown Band is a tight amalgam of jaunty guitar and fiddle driven roots music, rich vocal harmonies and a super tight rhythm section that bridges the gap between country and Australian bush music. The band's past gig list includes festivals such as the Tamworth, Fairbridge and National Festival (Canberra) in Australia and Guilfest, Broadstairs, Sibbouth and the East Burnett Festival in London, as well as large charity events such as Coten Nolan's Wild West Party at the Trafford Cricket Ground.  As well as a great concert set the band can do a barn / bush set which mixes simple called dances with upbeat country, and original songs, for those who want to bob about freeform. Lead singer Dawn is a fantastic caller who gets down on the dance floor with the audience and lead guitarist and band leader Brian has over three decades playing, and arranging, dance tunes that get the audience bouncing about to the music. Unlike many 'electic' bush dance bands, the Hoedown Band sound is more than just an acoustic folk band grafted onto a pub-rock rhythm section. The music has been developed as true fusion of the best of traditional and modern dance rhythms. And we don't stop the music every five minutes, we keep a groove going to maintain the atmosphere to help the dancers during the week through.  On the recording side, the band has had one full length album released worldwide and a number of singles - a number of which have appeared in the Australian radio Country Tracks Top 40. The CD's title is "Goodbye Yesterday" and features guest players from the UK and Australia such as Reagun's Hugh Macdonald (acoustic and electric guitar) and Greg Hume (fiddle) and the BJ Cole (pedal steel guitar), Tom Kitching (fiddle), Garry Rogers (bass) and Justin Saban (electric guitar) from the UK.  The band appears as a four / five piece giving a rich intricate sonic texture of electric guitar and electric fiddle along with a powerful rhythm section to back up and vocalists.
Brian Heywood	Brian Heywood	music@brianheywood.com	0434279707	Website: http://www.brianheywood.info/music.htm	Originals	Blues, Country, Pop, Rock	Can be fully 'self contained' or 'plug & play'.	3/4	Brian is an Australian musician who relocated to the UK in the early 1980s, and is now based back in Australia near Port Macquarie. As well as live performance in roots rock, Americana, folk rock and pop/rock genres, he also composes for live and video and film soundtracks. He also has a lot of experience in live production and studio production / engineering for recordings in a variety of roles as well audio post production and voice overs.  A guitarist, vocalist, banjo player, arranger, composer, producer and award winning song writer - Brian has a formidable array of skills and experience. He is just as at home on a big festival stage in outback Western Australia as an indie live music club in the heart of London.  Specialising in edgy roots fusion music, previous work has received comments such as "... aggressive, top notch fiddling set off by periodic guitar explosions". Tom Nelligan, Dirty Linen Magazine (USA), "just when it seemed as if new electric British roots bands were getting thinner on the ground" - Very welcome and very good" - RITCOTS Magazine (UK) and Steve Barnes Fairbridge Festival Artist Director (Australia) "... a rocking band - I was delighted with the audience response."  Brian's original material draws on many sources from progressive, Latin roots and blues rock of the 70's to Celtic and traditional material.
